

Dan Kennedy

Performance Dimensions Group Consultant

Dan has been a LEAP Leadership Development Certified Coach since 2020. As one of the first coaches in the Northwest to be certified by the International Coach Federation, with other pioneers, he co-founded the local ICF chapter, now known as ICF Washington State.

He speaks and facilitates on issues regarding coaching, leadership, and career development. He has conducted hundreds of effective presentations, workshops and seminars for various Seattle and national organizations including AARP, Costco, Adobe Systems, Campbell Soup Company and King County, Washington.

His focus has always been to support leaders to be doing work that engages them and to do it by leveraging their strengths, values and purpose for the best impact for themselves, their people and their organizations.

Client Feedback

“Dan is exceptionally gifted as a listener and career coach. He has a vast reservoir of knowledge and energy for contributing to organizational and individual learning and performance objectives.” Lee White, former AARP Regional Vice-President of the West Region

“It is hard to imagine where either I or my business would be today without Dan. He has led me through a major reorganization of my CPA firm with all the attendant emotional fervor. Our conversations move easily from statistics, budgets and revenue goals to how to market and talk to clients. He asks questions that lead me to my own answers! He is kind and brilliant and supportive and fearless.” Randy Joseph, CPA

“It’s not very often that I get to express my gratitude to a coach. In fact, you’re the only coach I’ve had since high school days. But that’s what makes you and your guidance so unique and impactful. As the CEO of my company I am not in a position to have someone who is motivated to keep me on track with my goals and aspirations. That’s where you have made a difference in my life.” Morris Pettit, founder, ExpoTel Corporation

“Dan Kennedy is a pleasure to work with. Together, Dan and I envisioned and built NetSpeed Fast Tracks, a social media platform for learning. Dan produced hundreds of content items, developing networks with leading industry gurus, served as on camera talent for videos and voice talent for audio recordings, and managed it all with a great attention to details and deadlines. His suggestions for script improvement and his coaching of those he interviewed and recorded were first class. I highly recommend his work.” Cynthia Clay, CEO, NetSpeed Learning Solutions
